Dear Wally:

I am in the process of winding down and cleaning up a lot of loose ends, preparatory to my retirement from active government service, effective 29 February 1972.

I seem to recall that when you and Fred were down here to see us last March, you expressed an interest in our display of pictures of our building which [REDACTED] had arranged. Jim has been good enough to put together the enclosed brochures which, on behalf of the Agency, I would like to present to you and Max, both as a testament to our high regard for your firm, as well as to the exciting design which you created for us.

Sincerely,

L. K. White

Dear Mr. Harrison:

You will recall during your visit last summer after our lunch we went to the Director's conference room where you looked at the large pictures of the building which had been prepared for an exhibit on the building. I believe you asked "Where does one get some of these?"

Enclosed is the answer to your question. As a means of more satisfactory display, horizontal pictures and vertical pictures were bound separately. It is a great pleasure in my departing moments to send these books to you and Mr. Abramowitz. I leave to you gentlemen the decision of which gets which book. These were made up in a limited edition of nine copies. That you were selected as a recipient is a testament both of our high regard for the firm of Harrison and Abramowitz and their leaders as well as to the exciting design which you created for us.

Should you be especially fond of several of these pictures and would wish them in a larger size such as you saw, I would try before leaving to make arrangements to accommodate you.

Kindest regards,

L. K. White
